EDWARD AMHERST OTT

Noted Lecturer to Appear Again Before Bedford Audience.

The popular lectures which Edward Amherst Ott is giving on the Lyceum platform are bearing fruit in the way of advanced legislation for the betterment of the American people. His lecture on "Sour Grapes," which treats of marriage and divorce, has been given nearly 2,000 times. In one of the states where it was given the legislator who introduced a reform marriage bill said he got his inspiration to do so from hearing

EDWARD AMHERST OTT.

ing Mr. Ott's lecture. But, whether he delivers this lecture or one of his other subjects, he is always alike forceful, entertaining and inspiring. He has appeared before more than 3,000 audiences in America, and more than 2,500 copies of his books have been sold. American audiences can scarce get enough of this man and his purposeful oratory.

Every lecture should answer one of the fundamental inquiries of the mind. If a lecture is also humorous and highly entertaining, so much the better. Although known as the purposeful orator and author, Mr. Ott combines much of humor and entertainment in each of his lectures.

In 1910 Mr. Ott appeared at the original New York Chautauqua in two lectures. For two years Mr. Ott was president of the International Lyceum Association, and he has done much for the Lyceum and Chautauqua movement in general throughout the country.

Mr. Ott will lecture for the third time at Assembly Hall next Tuesday evening. His subject will be "A Fortune For You," or "The Story of a City." Don't fail to hear him. Tickets on sale at Dull's drug store Monday morning. The lecture is given under the auspices of the Bedford Board of Trade.

Poor, But Happy

Last Monday morning a man and his wife, and their little six-year-old girl, were seen walking down East Pitt Street, in the middle of the road. The man and his wife were each pushing a baby carriage, and there was a little girl in each carriage. They were Mr. and Mrs. Charley Marsen, and their three little girls—Rebecca, Julia and Mary, two, four and six years old. They had a little home in Cecil County, Md. Their cabin and all their household goods were destroyed by fire, and they are now walking to Elmira, N. Y., where they have friends. They were ten days walking from their home near Baltimore to Bedford.

They have been sleeping in barns and getting food from kind farmers. Mrs. Marsen said: "I do hope we can get to Elmira before cold weather sets in," and Rebecca laughed and Mary cooed. They walk about 20 miles each day. They are poor, but hopeful and happy, and they are not beggars.

THIS YEAR'S COURSE

Of Lyceum Concerts, Lectures and Entertainments.

The concerts, lectures and entertainments which are to be given here this season under the auspices of the B. H. S. Alumni Association, represent a group of good things which are in store for the patrons of the local Lyceum course. They are booked through the oldest and largest bureau in the world—the Redpath—a bureau which guarantees every one of its attractions to make good.

In all parts of the American continent the Lyceum movement is growing, and as it grows in size it is likewise growing in popularity. There are today more than 12,000 Lyceum courses in the United States, besides some 1,500 Chautauquas. Incidentally it is of interest that more than 600 of all the Chautauquas in this country are managed by the same bureau.

Lyceum entertainments differ from any other types of public amusements, in that they leave the community life better for their having come and gone. Every Lyceum lecturer has a message which he believes will benefit his hearers. The aim of Lyceum musical companies or entertainers is to help maintain or raise the standard of the art they represent in all the towns and cities they visit.

The following are the Lyceum course attractions which are to be heard here this season:

October 23, Everett Kemp.

November 18, Walter Eccles and College Girls.

January 7, Montreville Wood.

January 26, Byron Piatt.

February 3, Harmony Concert Company.

March 4, Dollie McDonnell Company.

REPORT OF HYNDMAN SCHOOLS

For First Month Beginning September 1 and Ending September 26.

The Hyndman high and public schools completed the first month of work on Friday, September 26, with an enrollment of 121 males and 126 females, a total of 247 pupils. The average attendance for the month was 227, with the average per cent. of attendance 96.

These schools, under the capable leadership of W. A. Reitz, A. B., '13, of Gettysburg College, are already in a flourishing condition; each room showing up exceptionally well for only four weeks of work done. The pupils as a rule have settled down quite naturally to the routine of school life, and very little trouble has developed through discipline or recitation work.

The High School Course this year has been changed to meet the requirements of the State Board for a three year course; the curriculum last year having included much work of a heavier nature, which has been eliminated. Recitation periods have been lengthened from thirty to forty minutes, which gives more satisfaction all around.

The progressive spirit and supreme interest manifested by the present Board of School Directors in assisting the teachers has aided greatly in making their work more efficient and exhaustive in their respective grades. ROAD LOAN BAD BUSINESS

The People Should Know the Actual Cost of Good Roads.

It is a fact of common knowledge that the state roads that have been built under the direction of State Highway Commissioner Edward M. Bigelow and his predecessors in office, will not last; that they wear out within two or three years and are therefore not permanent improvements, such as should be made from the proceeds of loans.

Even Justice John P. Elkins, the Tener administration's special pleader for the fifty million dollar loan amendment to the State Constitution, in his speech before the so-called good roads Congress in Harrisburg on Thursday, September 18, did not, because he could not affirm that the state roads thus far built will last and are permanent improvements.

These being the undisputed conditions it is a matter of only common business prudence to first find out how to make roads that will last and can be honestly called permanent improvements before loading ourselves up with a great debt for road making, to be paid by ourselves and those who come after us.

It would be only common business prudence to avail ourselves of every promising opportunity to learn just how to build roads that will be permanent improvements.

Under the authority given to Congress in Article 1, Section 8, of the Constitution of the United States to establish post offices and post roads, the Sixty-Second Congress appropriated five hundred thousand dollars for the construction of post roads.

The Appropriation Bill provided that this sum should be divided among different states, each state to furnish double the amount of the National appropriation for the construction of roads along rural delivery routes, the roads to be built under the supervision of Federal experts.

The states to which this money was offered under these conditions with the exception of Pennsylvania, eagerly accepted it. Those states are Maine, Connecticut, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, Alabama, Mississippi, Texas, Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Minnesota, Nebraska and Oregon.

It will be seen from this list that the Government's purpose was to have these specimen good roads constructed in every section of the Union from the Canadian line to the Rio Grande and from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Instead of accepting this offer, Pennsylvania under the leadership of the Tener administration, rejected it without even referring the matter to the Legislature, which was in session at the time the proposition was received from the Federal Government.

There can be but one construction put upon this action by the Chief Magistrate of Pennsylvania—the construction put upon it by Congressman A. Mitchell Palmer in his speech at the last annual meeting of the Democratic State Central Committee and repeated by him at the time of the meeting of the Federation of Democratic Clubs at York and on other occasions; that the state administration of Pennsylvania does not want the people to have before them such object lessons in good road making as these roads made under Federal supervision would be and does not want the people to know the actual cost of good roads.

In view of all these facts, which are beyond dispute, we do not believe the level-headed voters of Pennsylvania at the election in November, are going to authorize the creation of the fifty million dollar loan to build temporary roads by approving the proposed constitutional amendment.—Harrisburg Patriot.

SOME FACTS ABOUT KANSAS

Some Counties Have Not Had a Criminal Trial for Ten Years.

For the last thirty-two years the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors of all kinds has been forbidden by the fundamental law of Kansas. For a good many years this law was fought and evaded in many parts of the state, and those who wanted it to be a failure often declared that it was.

As every one knows, during the present summer Kansas has suffered a severe drought, resulting in the failure of a large part of its corn crop, one of its most important agricultural products. But it has been said that no other state in the Union could suffer such a loss so well. The people of Kansas are declared on authority to have more money per capita than the people of any other state. They have $200,000,000 on deposit in State and National Banks, and own $67,000,000 in mortgages, an increase of 500 per cent. in this form of property in the last five years during which the laws against the manufacture and sale of liquors have been rigidly enforced in every part of the state.

The death rate in Kansas has been reduced from 17 to 7 per 1,000 of population in the thirty-two years that the manufacture and sale of liquor have been forbidden. There are 105 counties in the state. In the jails of 53 of those counties not long ago there was not a single inmate and 65 of the counties had no convicts in the state prison. Some of the counties have not had a criminal trial in court for 10 years, and the Attorney General of the state is quoted as saying that "a Grand Jury is so uncommon that half our people wouldn't know what it is and how to use it."

In Kansas there are 400,000 school children and 392,000 of these children have never seen a saloon. Kansas has a permanent school fund of $10,000,000. Thirty years ago, 49 per cent. of the population of the state could not read and write. At present only two per cent. cannot read and write. This is next to the lowest percentage of illiteracy in the United States, and two-thirds lower than Massachusetts, which is generally admitted to have a better school system than any other state. Government statistics show that the people of Kansas spend $1.48 per capita a year for liquor, while the people of the adjoining state, Missouri, spend $24 a year per capita for liquor, leaving the Kansan an average of $22.50 more per year to spend on food, clothing, housing and education than the Missourian, and the average Kansan saves at least as much more on doctors, jails, poor houses, prisons, hospitals and insane asylums. In the whole state of Kansas there are less than 600 paupers in a population, according to the census of 1910, of 1,690,949. The taxpayers of Dauphin County pay every year for maintenance in the almshouse of about half as many paupers as there are in the whole state of Kansas, with an area in square miles almost twice that of Pennsylvania and a population of much more than a million and a half.—Harrisburg Patriot.

BOUCICAULT'S PROFITS.

The Playwright's Fame Clung to Him Better Than His Riches.

Dion Boucicault received £300 for his share in the authorship of "London Assurance." The way in which he spent that sum was an indication of things to come. He bought two horses, a cab and seven new coats. His extravagance reached a climax over "Babil and Bijou," produced at Covent Garden in August, 1872. The money was found by Lord Londesborough, and Boucicault (with him "Planché") was under contract to produce something that might be called dramatic.

What was produced was a gorgeous and incoherent spectacle, with red lobsters recumbent at the bottom of the sea. Boucicault, who had run up bills to the extent of £10,000 or so, did not stay for the production, but betook himself abroad. All that persists of this magnificent fiasco is the boys' chorus, "Spring, Spring, Beautiful Spring," which was retained almost by chance.

But Boucicault was better known by his Irish dramas that are fresh today, as "The Shaughraun," "Arrah na Pogue," "The Colleen Bawn" and the like. By these he became rich and famous, but his fame clung to him better than his riches.—London Post.

No Landlubber.

Young Jack Tabbs has only been in the navy for a few months, but there is not a more enthusiastic sea dog in the whole of his majesty's service. He recently made application for and received the usual leave and proceeded to London and his mother's house.

Mrs. Tabbs lives on the third floor of a house in Camberwell, and when he arrived at her address he stood in the doorway and bawled up the stairs:

"Mother, aloft there! Jack's come home! Open the window!"

"Why, Jacky, my dear," cried the old lady from the landing, "whatever's wrong with the stairs?"

"Stairs!" cried the weather worn tar, with ineffable contempt. "What do I know about stairs? Just you open the window and lower a rope to the main deck, and be quick about it!"—London Express.

"Females."

Our woman words have all experienced vicissitudes of fortune. "Female," like the rest, has had its day. Chaucer introduced it under the guise of "femelle" and Shakespeare used it a few times instead of "woman." But it was the early novelists who clothed it with respectability by making all their women "females." So exceedingly respectable had it become in the time of Dr. Johnson that Fanny Burney called the princess royal "the second female in the kingdom." Even so late as the publication of Tennyson's "Princess" Mrs. Browning was able to write with perfect propriety that the poem dealt with "a university attended by females." Then decadence set in till now no shred of respectability is left to it.—London Standard.

Near Fame.

A young man, constant in his attendance in a cafe where the art students congregate in Paris, sat in his usual corner and surveyed the scene. "Who is that chap?" asked a visitor. "Is he a painter or a sculptor or what?"

"Oh, no; none of those," said a balding man. "He has a most engaging and important calling—he is the brother of a poet."—Saturday Evening Post.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Storing Clothing to Prevent Moth Injury.

One of the topics of the numerous inquiries reaching the office of State Zoologist H. A. Surface, at Harrisburg, pertains to household pests, and especially remedies for clothes moths. Professor Surface has always acted upon the justifiable theory that prevention is better than remedy, and, therefore, that it is far better to know what to do to prevent damage by pests and act accordingly, than to know how to get rid of them after their injuries have occurred.

Nearly all persons have some articles of light apparel, which in the fall of the year they wish to pack away securely for the winter, in such a manner that there will be no danger of moths attacking them, especially in rooms artificially heated, where moths are liable to continue their depredations.

It is not only a source of annoyance, but considerable loss to the housewife to learn with surprise during the winter or toward spring, that moths have continued to feed in the stored summer clothing. While it is true that they are much more liable to be injurious during the summer-time in the winter clothing that has been stored, yet it is worth while to guard against their depredations at this time of year.

The proper precautions consist in brushing the clothing well, then folding it with care, and packing it in paper or wooden boxes, in which all cracks and openings possible have been sealed with strips of paper pasted on the inside. Then after the box or chest is closed, strips of paper should be pasted over the cracks from the outside to make sure that clothes moths, Carpet beetles and other insect pests can not enter. They will not cut their way through strips of paper covering cracks, although if there are places where the paper is wrinkled, leaving openings into the cracks, they are liable to find them.

Attention should be given to all holes like nail holes and key holes, to be sure that these are closed. If the clothing is well brushed, aired and sunned before being packed, and is then properly sealed to keep out the pests, it is not necessary to go to the trouble and expense of packing with the moth balls, which give such a disagreeable odor and are so annoying to many persons.

Of course, it is not necessary to take such precautions in storing cotton or linen fabrics, yet it is to be remembered that there are other kinds of pests, such as mice, that are not respecters of goods, and which are liable to attack any that are not stored away in a thoughtful and secure manner. Tightly closed wooden boxes or chests are best also for giving security from these pests.

Hives, eczema, itch or salt rheum sets you crazy. Can't bear the touch of your clothing. Doan's Ointment is fine for skin itching. All druggists sell it, 50c a box. Adv.

PENNSYLVANIA MURDERERS

To Be Executed in Centre County Death House.

To carry out the new Pennsylvania statute which directs that persons convicted of first degree murder be electrocuted instead of hanged, the board of inspectors of the Western Penitentiary have asked for bids for the construction of a new death house and electric equipment on the ground of the new Western Penitentiary in Centre County.

There comes under the provisions of this act all persons convicted of murder, committed after its approval of the act by Governor Tener, which was June 19, last. At the present time there is pending through Pennsylvania the cases of a number of men convicted of first degree murder, after the signing of the act, but as the murder was committed before the signing, they do not come under its provision.

The new death house will serve the entire state, though the new penitentiary will care only for prisoners from the western counties, as in the past. After the present pending cases are disposed of there will be no more executions in county jails in Pennsylvania.

The act, No. 338, directs that death "be inflicted by causing to pass through the body of the convict a current of electricity of intensity sufficient to cause death, and the application of such current must be continued until such convict is dead." It also specifies that "the board of inspectors of the Western Penitentiary shall, immediately after the passage of this act, cause to be erected an appropriate building, located at such place on the grounds of the new Western Penitentiary, in Centre County, as shall be agreed upon by the said board; and shall also cause to be constructed in said building such electrical apparatus, machinery and appliances as may be suitable and sufficient, to execute condemned criminals in the manner prescribed in this act." For this purpose $50,000 is appropriated.

PROVISIONS OF NEW TARIFF BILL

Measure Is Expected to Yield
Large Revenue.

RATES LOWERED BY SENATE

As Prepared by the House the Average Duties Were About 30 Per Cent and as Finally Adopted the Average Is About 27 Per Cent—The Payne-Aldrich Bill Carried Average Duties of 35 Per Cent—Free List Is Increased.

PROGRESS OF THE NEW TARIFF BILL.

The following shows the chronological history of the Underwood-Simmons tariff bill:

Jan. 6 to Feb. 1—Hearings, house ways and means committee.
April 7—Bill introduced by Mr. Underwood and referred to the ways and means committee.
April 27—Bill reported by Mr. Underwood after Democratic caucus had approved it.
May 2—Passed house of representatives—yeas, 281; nays, 130.
May 9—Received by the senate and referred to finance committee.
June 20—Bill completed by senate finance committee and referred to Democratic caucus.
July 11—Bill reported to senate by Chairman Simmons with recommendation that it pass.
July 21—Made unfinished business of senate.
Sept. 2—Passed by senate—yeas, 44; nays, 37.
Sept. 11—House nonconcur in senate amendments, and bill goes to conference.
Sept. 20—Conference reach final adjustment.

After being under consideration in congress for nearly six months the new tariff bill is a law, and for the first time in nearly a quarter of a century the country has a tariff law originated by the Democratic party. The bill will doubtless be known as the Underwood-Simmons bill, taking the title from Chairman Underwood of the house and Chairman Simmons of the finance committee of the senate.

The sponsors for the bill say that it will raise ample revenue. Chairman Simmons has been advised that it will yield a surplus of at least $16,000,000 a year above current expenses. If it does not meet the expenses of running the government, the expenses will be reduced.

One remarkable thing about the present tariff bill, a precedent, in fact, is that the senate cut the average rate of duty carried by the bill below that fixed by the house. Heretofore in the making of a tariff bill the house has slashed the rates, while the senate has then taken up the bill and readjusted the rates on a higher general average.

The house bill carried a general average rate slightly below 30 per cent. This the senate cut a little over 4 per cent. The conference committee has raised the general average duty but slightly. The average ad valorem duty carried by the bill as perfected is about 27 per cent. The average under the present law is about 35 per cent.

Many Changes Considered.

The conference committee had to deal with 676 paragraphs on which there were disagreements. Some of these involved only the change of a word or a question of punctuation, but a majority of them represented differences in rates and a few were fundamental.

The house conferees also accepted the senate amendment fixing dates when the wool duties shall go into effect, which was one of the final stumbling blocks.

Raw wool will go on the free list on Dec. 1, and the reduced duties carried by the present bill will become effective on Jan. 1. The house bill proposed to make the wool duties effective immediately on the bill being signed by the president. The final action was an important concession to the manufacturers.

The senate won over the house also on controverted paragraphs in the schedule relating to cotton cloths and yarns. By this agreement slightly higher duties are given to certain coarser grades of cotton cloths and yarns by changing the classification.

Fur hats and frames, forms and other parts for the manufacture of such hats received a rate of 45 per cent. This matter affects the hat industry in Connecticut. The house fixed the rate at 40 per cent. The senate made it 45.

The silk schedule also was reopened, and the rate on silk partially manufactured from cocoons or wastes, not further advanced in manufacture than carded or combed silk, and silk noils, was reduced from 30 to 20 cents per pound.

The Metal Schedule.

Probably no single industry covered by the tariff bill suffered such reductions in duties as did the iron and steel industry. The house cut duties unsparingly, and then the senate followed by making still further reductions and increasing the free list.

The house, for example, placed a duty of 8 per cent on pig iron, spiegel scrap iron and scrap steel and like products and made ferro-manganese dutiable at 15 per cent. The senate free listed both of them, and the conference committee after a considerable deadlock yielded to the senate.

The senate also free listed slabs, blooms, loops and other products of iron more advanced than pig iron, which the house had made dutiable at 8 per cent. The conference agreed to this. The senate cut the duty on round iron or steel wire from 20 per cent in the house bill to 15 per cent, and the conference accepted the senate reduction.

Agricultural Schedule.

The conference committee agreed to the senate amendment, which struck out the 10 per cent duty on cattle provided by the house bill and the 10 per cent rate on sheep and transferring both to the free list. The conference committee also put wheat on the free list, where the senate had placed it, by striking out a duty of 10 cents a bushel provided by the house bill.

The house won a victory in the duty on lemons and other citrus fruit when the conference committee restored the classification based on the cubic feet of the containers in which such products are imported, which results in a slight decrease of the duty.

The senate also lost in the struggle over a proposed duty on bananas when the conference committee struck out the senate rate and restored bananas to the free list of the house bill.

Woolen Schedule.

Very few changes were made in the woolen schedule. The senate was sustained by the conference committee in its amendments fixing the dates when wool duties shall go into effect. Compromises were made by the conference committee between senate and house rates, by which wool tops will bear a duty of 10 per cent and yarns a duty of 18 per cent.

The senate sought to reduce the duty on woolen blankets and to free list blankets valued at not more than 40 cents a pound, but the conference committee rejected the amendment, and all blankets will bear duty at 25 per cent ad valorem. The house rates of 50 per cent ad valorem on carpets and rugs were adopted by the conference.

A compromise was reached on the paragraphs relating to angora goat hair, alpaca, by which the hair will pay a duty of 15 per cent; tops from such hair, 25 per cent, and plushes, velvet and other fabrics, 45 per cent.

Sundries.

The conference committee adopted the action of the senate, placing fulminates and gunpowder on the free list. There was a compromise on the paragraph relating to furs, but generally the house rates were restored.

The senate rates prevailed as to lace curtains and laces and the house won by having restored the paragraph in the house bill covering chamois skins and glove leathers, by which the former were made dutiable at 15 per cent, and the latter at 10 per cent. There was a compromise on the glove schedule between senate and house rates and the senate's action in free listing harness, saddles and saddlery parts was approved by the conference committee, although the house bill had made them dutiable at 20 per cent.

The only substantial victory won by the house in the free list was as to free art.

Here are rates of the new tariff compared with the Payne-Aldrich law:

FRIDAY MORNING, OCT. 10, 1913.

WHY NOT ANOTHER MAN?

Mr. Brode has been the borough Tax Collector for nearly ten years, and is asking the voters to give him another term of four years. Don't you think, Mr. Voter, it is about time to let some other property owner and taxpayer have an opportunity to serve the citizens of the borough in this capacity? Mr. Edward F. Englund, the Democratic candidate for the office, is one of our popular business men, and is capable of performing the duties of the office. He is accommodating and obliging, and will, if elected, serve with fidelity to his constituents and with credit to himself.

THE COUNTY TICKET

Joseph Stayer of Bedford Township, Democratic candidate for Director of the Poor, is well qualified to fill that very important position. He is a man of sound judgment and would perform his duties pertaining to the office in a manner that would not only be a credit to himself, but to his party as well.

He is business from the word go, and his election as a member of the Board would mean a saving of many dollars to the burdened taxpayers of the county. Every Democratic voter should turn out to the election on November 4 and cast his ballot for Mr. Stayer. With Mr. Stayer as a member of the board, and if it should be necessary to buy whiskey for use of the inmates at the almshouse, it will be labeled "straight whiskey" and not cough syrup.

For Jury Commissioner Wm. Drenning of West Providence Township is the Democratic nominee. He has faithfully served in this office one term and he should be re-elected. There are three candidates, two to be elected. Mr. Drenning has demonstrated his fitness for the position and all Democrats should go to the polls on November 4 and vote for him.

THE NON-PARTISAN BALLOT

As stated before in these columns, the non-partisan ballot takes the election of Judges out of politics. The names of the candidates for Associate Judge in this county, for instance, will appear, along with the names of the candidates for Superior Court Judges, in a separate column from the ones in which the party nominees for other offices are printed.

In voting for Associate Judge only the man and the issue are to be considered, not the party. And this is as it should be. The judiciary should be lifted above mere partisan politics and allowed to sit in judgment without any let or hindrance from any party boss or bosses or from any special interest. "Such is the ground upon which the new law is founded. The voter should disregard the appeals to "party loyalty" for the interests of no party are at stake. And any appeal made on such basis is but an attempt to misuse laudable party spirit for special and selfish interests. So long as Judges are free and unhampered in the exercise of their high official duty our cherished liberties are secure. Every qualified elector should regard it as his solemn duty, as well as privilege, to go to the polls and cast his ballot on the high ground of principle. Thus only shall our country prosper and endure.

WHY?

As a rule, many of the borough and township offices are not sought for by the candidates, nor do they circulate the petitions for signers to have their names appear upon the primary ballot. This is not the case, though, with Simon Oppenheimer, the Republican candidate for Chief Burgess.

A certain popular young man, who would have been a credit to the party as its candidate, had been asked by Republican party leaders of the borough, to be the nominee for Chief Burgess, and he had consented to, but when he appeared at the Republican suggestion meeting held previous to the primary, he discovered that Oppenheimer had a petition and was getting signers to have his name printed on the ballot. The young man then refused to be a candidate for the office.

The question naturally then arises, "Why, and for what purpose, is Simon Oppenheimer seeking this position?" Surely it cannot be for the small salary connected with it. Is it for popularity, or for the many pleasant (?) duties a Chief Burgess is bound by oath to perform? If it is not for these reasons will Simon be gracious enough to publicly state to the voters of Bedford why he wants to be their chief executive officer? We feel sure such a statement will be appreciated.

SHOULD BE ELECTED

Among the important offices to be filled this fall by the voters of the borough is that of Chief Burgess—more important than ever before from the fact that by an act passed by the last Legislature, the control of Borough Policemen is taken away from the town council and places it in the hands of the Chief Burgess as to the performance of their duties, enforcing the ordinances, etc.

For this reason alone the voters should carefully consider the qualifications of the candidates to be voted for. We know of no one who is more worthy and deserving of the support of every property owner and voter of the borough than that of the Democratic and Washington party candidate, William R. Piper.

Since boyhood Mr. Piper has been employed as telegraph operator for the P. R. R., and is at the present time chief train dispatcher for the Bedford Division. He has lived practically all his lifetime in Bedford and has always taken an active interest in matters pertaining to the welfare of the town.

For fifteen years or over he has been a member of the Bedford Fire Department, and for the past eight years he has been the chief of that organization, and as such has on many occasions demonstrated his fitness to serve where cool-headed and deliberative men are required.

As the chief of our fire department he has endured many hardships and received numerous minor injuries while performing the dangerous task of saving valuable property from the ravages of fire. He has never received compensation in any form for his valuable services rendered the citizens of the borough, and he should, by all means, be elected the chief executive officer of the town at the coming election. Mr. Piper did not seek the nomination for the office—the nomination sought the man—not as a party nominee but as the candidate of all good thinking people.

Regardless of party affiliations he should receive the support of all, and by casting your vote for Mr. Piper you will show your appreciation for the valuable public spirited services rendered to the town. Honor those to whom honor is due.

THE VICTORY

It was no mere personal victory that had been won when President Wilson signed the Underwood-Simmons Tariff bill Friday night and made it the law of the land. It was no mere partisan victory. It was a victory for American institutions, and it should inspire the American people with new confidence in their system of government.

Whether tariffs should be high or low or moderate are matters about which honest men can disagree. Whether a government should raise revenue by a tax on incomes is a matter about which honest men can disagree. But whether the political leaders of a democracy should keep their pledges, whether a party that is intrusted with the powers of government should keep the faith—these are matters about which there can be no disagreement among honest men.

Unless men elected to office redeem their pledges, unless a party that triumphs at the polls keeps the faith, republican institutions are a fraud and a lie. There can be no representative government except in name when the people are tricked and hoodwinked or defrauded.

Whatever anybody may think about downward revision of the tariff, no man can deny that the Underwood-Simmons act embodies the promises that the Democratic party made to the country in the campaign of 1912. This is no tariff by log-rolling, by manipulation, by intrigue, by lobbying, by bribery. It was bought by no campaign contributions. It was dictated by no conspiracy between corrupt business and corrupt politics. It is a tariff made in the open by men who took the country into their confidence and did their work in the sight of everybody. It is a tariff that is exactly what it pretends to be and it is the tariff that was promised at the polls.

It is a great triumph for Mr. Wilson, for Mr. Clark, for Mr. Underwood, for Mr. Simmons and the other Democratic leaders. It is a great triumph for the Democratic party. But chiefly it is a great triumph for the principle of responsible representative government.

The American people should never forget that their institutions as they exist will always serve the full need of the Nation if they will but employ those institutions. There is never reason to despair.

Four years ago the Republican party had deliberately violated its pledges, and the Democratic party was impotent. But no sooner was there an imperative necessity for constructive Democratic leadership than that leadership came into being. Who could have foreseen four years ago that a discredited and demoralized Democracy was about to be converted into an efficient, responsible instrument of government by men like Wilson Underwood and Simmons, whom a majority of the American people had hardly heard of? Yet this is what has been done. It is what will always be done when the need arises and the country proves that it wants such leadership.

This tariff is the product not of the New Nationalism but of the Old Nationalism. This Old Nationalism will always be adequate to a Nation with intelligence, conscience and idealism which holds steadfastly to the equality of opportunity.—New York World.

AMONG OUR STATE EXCHANGES

Little Political Items of Interest Picked Up Here and There.

The Democrats are now preparing for the gubernatorial contest next year, with every prospect of winning out. Get into line!—Venango Spectator.

The organization of the Republican state committee shows that the party is again in full control of Penrose and McNichol. The Republican party may submit to this leadership but it can't expect popular confidence so long as it does.—Carlisle Sentinel.

Grafters in New York state looted $17,000,000 of the public road funds in a very brief period. Think what would become of the $50,000,000 which the Penrose-Tener-Bigelow machine are pleading for.—DuBois Daily Express.

The meeting of the Republican state committee was held Tuesday and, as a result, the stand patters are again in control of the party machinery. Penrose now is in full charge. They are due for at least one more trouncing.—Venango Spectator.

It is reported that the Republican county organization bought several hundred tickets for the county fair on last Thursday, while Penrose was here, for free distribution. Must have been afraid he would not have an audience. Presumably this expenditure comes under the heading of "dissemination of information."—Carlisle Sentinel.

It was the day after the signing of the tariff law. The timid manufacturer rose early and glanced from his window. He found other men astir. Smoke was coming out of the chimneys. Wagons and carts were hurrying along the streets. The shrill-voiced newsboy was crying his papers. It was the same old world. Thereupon the timid manufacturer finding that he had slept too long, rushed forth in order that he, too, might take his place on the industrial battle line. He saw that to bemoan the issue was to lose the game.—Johnstown Democrat.

At the election November 4 the taxpayers of the state will have a chance to be heard on the $50,000,000 road loan. All over the Commonwealth forces are at work to persuade the voters to pass this measure. Senator Penrose and his followers are pushing the thing tooth and nail and will get the amendment through if possible.

If you are opposed to the measure and stay away from the election you will encourage this graft. The time to act will soon be here. Vote it down or suffer the consequences.—Cambria Tribune.

The Return of Crow

Senator Crow, a reactionary of reactionaries, a Penrose statesman, a distinguished throtter of good legislation, an obstructionist and a regular of the old type is now chairman of the Republican state committee. If Senator Penrose has any orders to give, Crow will take them, and, what is more, he will obey them. Crow has played the game for many years and his hand is steady now. He will start in anew to play according to the old rules he knows so well.

With the election of Crow there comes to an end the temporary career of the Republican party in this state as an organization free from the domination of the bosses. The Republican party now is where the Democratic party once was. It has its "organization" chairman in the saddle instead of along the sidelines.

Crow's legislative career is a reproach to his party. It is because of his legislative career that he has been made chairman of the Penrose organization.

There is a warning to the state Democracy to be found in the return of Crow.—Johnstown Democrat.

Highwayry

(Cabel Thor in Greensburg Argus)

The sultans of the State Highway Department are living in the celestial anticipation of getting a "whack" at the $50,000,000 bonus which the dear taxpayers are now asked to contribute for good roads.

The Great Jobletter is sick, but his department is doing a blue-print business in the attic of the capitol, which business money alone will complete.

The road surgeons are training the highway searchlight down along eight thousand miles of road. They are getting ready to filter the $50,000,000 through their political sieve to see how much money will be left for plugging mud holes after they first secure their princely salaries.

Prospects of road building piracy look good. The program will require 30 additional head clerks at $3,000 per year to oil the financial filtration planet. The McNichol-Vare hatchery of South Philadelphia will be able to furnish these clerks on 'phone call.

Besides clerks, 50 steam rollers at $9,000 each will take some time to build and 100 stone crushers at $8,000 each will take a longer time. Twenty thousand shovels and 10 train loads of wheelbarrows can be had in short order when the money is advanced for them.

In order to use up the $50,000,000 it will also require car loads of water buckets. Two car loads of dinner buckets, two car loads of tobacco, one car load of matches, one car of tobacco pipes, 80 barrels of Overholt and Highspire, blended with superintendents, and a thousand tons of spikes to tack the ends of the roads down.

"Ask and ye shall receive," is the slogan of the gang. The machine Senator from Sullivan County wants a state road built past his barnyard. A Somerset County standpat gangster wants a $30,000 road built from the old pike to his sugar camp. The country clubbists of Montgomery County demand a $50,000 road past their golf and polo fields. The Erie County standpat Senator says he must have a road cut out to his bungalow and Quaker City Senators want a vest pocket edition of roads which they can crate and take with them whenever they go motoring.

The roads will be Bigelowized and the people will be Penroseized. Two thousand little standpat superintendents over the state will constitute the political machine. These sups and their friends will stand by and vote as the Great Jobletter demands and the Jobletter will vote the sups for the County Fair Orator.

The intention of the "machine" is to save money out of the $50,000,000 for salaries and for the salaries of the under studies. Because the $100,000,000 steal in New York state was a failure it does not indicate that the bosses here will lose money on the game. The taxpayers, it is said, will get used to paying the freight.

The course in music is working out splendidly. The High School program is so arranged that Mr. Diehl has 40 minutes each day to teach music in two of the grades. By this arrangement, he is able to go to each room once a week, review the lesson of the previous week, and give each school new work for the next one. Each teacher goes over this work with her pupils several times before his next visit.

The attendance for the month was effected somewhat by the numerous cases of whooping cough and the Fair. Although the school had closed Wednesday and Thursday afternoons and the whole of Friday, yet a great number was missing in the forenoon.

The newly organized class in book-keeping is working well. Several persons, not members of the High School, are taking advantage of this practical course. In all, ten are studying it.

Bedford Township is sending a large number of pupils to our school. Thirty-four are attending the grade; seven are attending the High School, together with one from Union Township.

Bedford County Represented—Extracts From President's Address.

The White Ribboners of Pennsylvania met in their 39th annual convention at Johnstown on the 3rd inst. for a five-day meeting. It was one of the greatest state conventions ever held by the W. C. T. U. of Pennsylvania. Notables of both state and nation were in attendance. Among the delegates from our own town and county of Bedford were Mrs. A. C. Blackburn, Mrs. W. R. Piper, Mrs. J. F. Russell, Miss Lizzie B. Schell, Miss L. D. Shuck, Mrs. Frank Todd, Miss Annie Ellenberger, Mrs. M. S. Klahre and Mrs. E. L. Smith, of Schellsburg. Miss L. D. Shuck of the Bedford union was the musical director of the convention, easily sustaining her well known reputation as a musician.

Among the prominent speakers who were present and who are known to our people were Mrs. Adda B. Farsels of Philadelphia and Madame Barakat, the latter rendering for the convention several of her famous Bible readings.

One of the leading addresses of the week was that of the president, Mrs. Ella M. George, of Beaver Falls, who impressed her hearers with the logic as well as the fervor of her remarks. A few extracts from her speech are as follows:

"The incontrovertible proof that prohibition does prohibit is the fact that the liquor oligarchy are constantly marshaling their forces to counteract it. If more liquor is sold under prohibitory laws than under license laws, as they say, why are they so anxious to prevent every prohibitory measure?"

"From the Brewers Association Year Book we take statistics that show that the average amount of liquor per capita in prohibition states is 1.35 gallons, while the average in license states is 25.23 gallons."

"The great chain of Liggett drug stores throughout the United States, has published a large advertisement in the leading papers of twenty-eight cities of the U. S. announcing that from this time forward intoxicating liquors will not be sold in any Liggett Drug Store."

"The most notable labor leaders of the world are taking a strong public stand against the liquor traffic, notably John Burns of England, and John Mitchell and John B. Lennon of our own country."

"The most effective cure for insanity is prohibition. Few people realize the tremendous expense which the taxpayer of this country bears each year for the support of the insane and feeble minded."

"Emperor William of Germany, after a careful study of statistics, has tabooed the flowing tankard and the cup that cheers, and requests that hereafter his health be drunk in water."

Wait Paint

There are painters and waiters. Which am I going to do? Paint or wait?

Which is better? How much am I worth with my property waiting? How much if I paint? Will my house be worth more or less if I paint?

Say it costs $2 a gallon Devoe—I wouldn't paint any other—and $3 or $4 more for putting it on. That's $50 or $60 a 10-gallon job.

The money is gone. Is it in the house? Is it all in the house? Suppose I were selling; what should I get for that house fresh-painted and what should I get for it needing paint?

I wonder why men paint before selling!

DEVOE

Metzger Hardware and House Furnishing Company sell it.

Temperance Meeting at Coaldale

Messrs. W. L. Piper, William Benner, George Smith, Judge J. W. Huff and Rev. C. V. Drake, all temperance workers from Saxton, went to Coaldale last Friday evening in the interests of the temperance work of the county. At a meeting held on the streets of Coaldale, Rev. W. W. Willard, pastor of the Methodist Church at that place, introduced Rev. Carl V. Drake, pastor of the Methodist Church of Saxton, who summed up the situation in this county, in reference to the contest now on for the Associate Judgeship. He urged the men, some fifty or seventy-five who had gathered to hear the speaker, to vote for Mr. Anthony Sammel for Associate Judge and thus insure against the return of the licensed saloon in the near future. After the street meeting the temperance advocates gathered in the Methodist Church where a temperance society was organized and plans laid for active work. These meetings were, in every way, non partisan. B. W. Saxton, Pa., Oct. 8, 1913.

Men, who are the heads of families and who ought to set a good example for their children and the rising generation, loaf outside of the church during the Sunday School hour. Men, we need every one in the Sunday School. Come to this convention and know the reason why. Walter C. Pugh.

More Men will Wear Oppenheimer Superior Clothes this Fall and Winter than Ever Before

In all communities where Oppenheimer Superior Clothes are handled their sale is increasing steadily.

We know this because of the increased demand we have been receiving through dealers.

The dealer is the point of contact. He feels the pulse of the buying public first, and if he is a good merchandiser, responds to it instantly.

Oppenheimer styles and patterns and quality never fail to win the favor of every man who wears Oppenheimer clothes.

And that complete satisfaction which Oppenheimer clothes give the man who wears them is the one and only reason for the continued and increasing growth of our business.

Men wear Oppenheimer Superior clothes because they measure up in all respects to their highest conception of what ready-for-service clothing ought to be. The price with them is secondary.

Other men choose Oppenheimer clothes for the first time perhaps because in the medium price field to which they limit themselves they look best. They continue to choose them because long service proves them to be best.

There is a dealer in your community who handles this celebrated line of clothes. He has a complete showing of Fall and Winter models ready for your inspection. Look him up.

Our Style Book shows all new models and contains a guide to correct Fall and Winter attire for all occasions. It will be sent free upon request.

Lesson II.—Fourth Quarter, For
Oct. 12, 1913.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Num. xii—Memory Verses, 10, 11—Golden Text, I Cor. xiii, 4, 5—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

The first verse of this lesson mentions the three children of this renowned family of Amram and Jochebed of the tribe of Levi of the family of Kohath (Ex. vi, 16-20). They are mentioned again in Num. xxvi, 57-59. Moses was eighty years old, and Aaron was eighty-three when they spoke unto Pharaoh that he should let Israel go that they might serve the Lord.

Miriam must have been the oldest, for when Moses was three months old she was old enough to watch what might happen to the babe in the ark of bulrushes, to suggest to Pharaoh's daughter a nurse for the babe and to bring her mother as the nurse. The tribe of Levi was chosen by the Lord instead of all the firstborn in Israel, and they were given unto Aaron to minister unto him.

They were to encamp about it, take it down, carry it from place to place, set it up and have all the care of it. They were not to be numbered with the other tribes. They had no inheritance in the land, like the other tribes, but only cities to live in. The Lord Himself was their inheritance, and they lived upon the tithes of the others and were to give to the Lord the tenth part of the tithes they received (Num. 1, 47-54; II, 33; III, 5-13; XI, 31; VIII, 5-26; XVII, 20-26; XXV, 1-8).

The sons of Levi were Gerson, and Kohath and Merari, Amram belonging to the Kohathites, whose special charge was the holy vessels, while the others carried the heavier parts, as boards, pillars, sockets, curtains, for which wagons and oxen were provided, while the vessels, properly covered, were borne upon their shoulders (Num. II, 17, 27-37). Miriam is called a prophetess, and she was honored in leading the praises of the other women (Ex. xv, 20, 21). Aaron was given to Moses to be his spokesman or prophet.

While there might be complaining and murmuring among others in Israel, might we not expect to find in this household the love of our Golden Text, that is always kind? But, no, the heart everywhere is deceitful and desperately wicked, and the author of all strife and confusion is ever busy.

It is always true that our adversary, the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour, and we are not always careful to resist him (I Pet. v, 8, 9). Zipporah was neither the first nor the last woman spoken against in her own home or by her relatives by marriage.

We think of Hannah, who suffered much from her adversary in her own home, who provoked her sore to make her fret (I Sam. I, 6), but as Hannah's resort was the one who hears prayer (Ps. lxx, 2), so may He be the refuge of all tired ones. We might think that respect for Moses, whom the Lord had so honored, would prevent his brother and sister from speaking against him, but they spoke even against him also, saying: "Hath the Lord indeed spoken only by Moses? Hath He not spoken also by us?" (verse 2).

Happy are those who can leave their affairs to Him to manage and roll off all the burden, casting all the care upon Him, for He careth. In this case at least Moses was very meek (verse 3), and that was evidently the manner of his life. The prophet, like unto Moses, said that we would find rest in bearing the yoke of meekness and lowliness (Matt. xi, 29).

The Lord heard their words (verse 2), and it should be a comfort to every child of God that He hears every word spoken against us and sees every thought.

One of the best things I know is that He hears those who talk to one another about Him and keeps a book of remembrance for all who even think upon His name (Mal. iii, 16). In this case we read that the Lord spake suddenly. If that is the correct word, the best translation, it may indicate that these two were taken by surprise, perhaps not considering that the Lord was taking notice, Aaron evidently forgetting that less than a year before he had been commissioned to say to Israel, "Come near before the Lord, for He hath heard your murmurings" (Ex. xvi, 6-10).

The Lord said, "Come out, ye three" (verse 4), for they were the only ones concerned in this.

The three came forth, and the Lord came down in the pillar of cloud and talked with Aaron and Miriam concerning the honor He had put upon Moses and asked why they were not afraid to speak against him (verses 5-8). Compare Deut. xxxiv, 7, 10-12, concerning the way the Lord honored Moses, His servant.

See in Heb. III, 5, 6, Moses and Christ spoken of and the house of each, and consider what might happen today to those who do not hesitate to speak against Christ, denying His Deity, His supernatural birth, His resurrection from the dead, His coming again in glory, were God to deal with them as He dealt with Miriam. As Miriam was punished and not Aaron, she must have been the leader in talking against Moses because of his wife. Was it jealousy? Consider Moses' prayer for his sister, "Heal her now O God, I beseech Thee!" (verse 13). She was healed, but not instantly, as some would have us think is the only way

Absent-Minded.

"Smalley is an absent-minded fellow," said Bilkes. "When he was engaged to Mrs. S. he asked her to go to the opera with him one night and bought only one ticket. He explained it to her by saying that he was so used to occupying a single chair with her that he didn't think."

Named Residences.

In England one is taxed for calling one's house by a pet name. Some offenders ought to be taxed a lot; for instance, "Happiholme" is the name of one dirty, decayed, originally cheap little house.
